What's New in the?

ALSong is a 4X4 black rectangular application with a light blue tinted background which would look good with dark and muted colors such as black, dark grey and dark blue. If the colors do not suit your taste, you can switch to other skins such as white, red, yellow, green, blue, orange, purple, pink, cyan, pink, and grey. ALSong is designed to make it a lot easier for you to play your favorite songs. One of the most useful features is the 'Search' option, which allows you to look up your music by artist name, song name, album name or file name. This can be done manually or by using some of the pre-defined music databases from the included Sound Pack. Once the song is selected, you can adjust the settings, including sound volume, fade in/out, pitch, repeat, back/forward, and set start and end points for difficult parts. ALSong's main window consists of a 4X4 grid with a pull down menu, a library area, and play controls for music playback and application's settings. The library stores your music files including the title, song name, artist name, album name, track number, and duration. All music files are listed alphabetically by title or artist. ALSong's native format is FLAC, but it also supports common audio formats such as MP3, OGG, AVI, WAV and WMA. ALSong can be installed and run as a portable application. There are two types of sound effects: 30-second WAV files and 24-second MP3 files. The WAV files consist of what experts would call "white noise" which consist of narrow band sounds used to mimic the environment, while the MP3 files are closer to what audiophiles would call "ambience" or "room ambience." The built-in equalizer allows you to change the sound quality of the track. You can also adjust different aspects of the sound: volume, mix, frequency, panorama, stereo width, and more. If you were to choose the area of sound effect you want to customize, you can change the start and end points of the track. This allows you to find the first and last minute of silence. Another nice thing about the ZenWalk theme is that it only uses system resources when running, which means you won't have to worry about slowdowns
