However, because I am reading the flags from an XML file, I need to use the strings All, A, B, C, E, and D, and I don't think I can use an if statement with a bunch of strings and then return a multi-assignment statement. How might I change the following to get the single assignment and avoid the (3 * 8) = 24 if statements? Public Function DBFread(ByVal FileName As String, ByVal All As String, ByVal A As String, ByVal B As String, ByVal C As String, ByVal D As String, ByVal E As String) As DatabaseTableDefinitions Dim dbFile As New databaseFile(FileName) Dim DBTableDefinitions As New DatabaseTableDefinitions() Dim Columns As New List(Of DatabaseTableColumnDefinitions()) Dim Columns2 As New List(Of DatabaseTableColumnDefinitions()) Dim dbReader As New XmlDataReader(dbFile.getFileContent()) Try While (dbReader.Read()) If dbReader.IsStartElement("TRANSLATOR") Then Dim Translator As New Microsoft.VisualBasic.FileIO.TextFieldParser(dbFile.getFileContent()) Translator.TextFieldType
