Developer commentary for the HyperMotion Technology demo Player likeness and animations Live action and cutscenes Ball Physics and shot animations Slide tackles and flicks Gameplay visuals Emotions and team play The HyperMotion Technology demo introduces FIFA 22's gameplay innovation "HyperMotion." The new face of FIFA player likeness has been developed from high-resolution player scans and Motion Capture data, capturing the right balance between technology and real-life authenticity. The team work, play and above all, emotions of real players are harnessed, refined and used to ensure the player moves and acts in a believable, natural and realistic way. If the player is contesting a throw-in, uses his pace to dominate in an aerial challenge, or chooses to run a surge with the ball at his feet, he moves and behaves as a real footballer would. A new match-day stadium, vast open spaces and dynamic lighting from the sun and moon create atmospheres and moods for matches. Players and team-mates move in group formations to break down opposition defences, and vocal crowd reactions capture the intensity of matches. Teams can create their own unique stadiums, which are brought to life with stadium animations and a stadium chatter system. A variety of spectacular goals will play out in front of goal nets and goal lines, where multiple players can perform spectacular moves. Player goal celebrations, in-game altercations and crowd reactions are included to spice up a match, as well as individual celebrations for shots, tackles and dribbles. Fans can choose to record and upload their celebration to create an exclusive mini-clip. The new animation system introduces a level of realism never before seen in FIFA, for a new visual experience for players and audiences alike. A new engine optimisation system enables all-new graphical features and increases intensity in all of the game's zones. FIFA 22 introduces "HyperMotion Technology," which uses motion capture data collected from 22 real-life players playing a complete, high-intensity football match in motion capture suits. The data collected from player movements, tackles, aerial duels and on-ball actions is used to power FIFA 22 gameplay. Developer commentary for the HyperMotion Technology demo According to a press release from EA SPORTS, the game will be released in the United States on August 9, for PlayStation 4, Xbox One, and PC. In September 2015, we saw EA Sports bringing out the Olympic Edition of FIFA 16, which included all the

Features Key:

- A story campaign that explores the emotional highs and lows of the World Cup.
- The new tactics button. Change how attacks play, and create more varied play that's suited to your style of play.
- FIFA 22 introduces "HyperMotion Technology," which uses motion capture data collected from real-life players playing a complete football match in motion capture suits. The data collected from player movements, tackles, aerial duels and on-ball actions is used to power FIFA 22 gameplay. Add a new player dimension to tournaments, with the ability to customize your own unique matchday roster.
- New ball physics in aerial moves. In the same way that you can now use Napoli's central attacker to dribble past opponents and cut inside, your new player's skill and movement will affect your ball physics in aerial moves. The player creates slip-clearance opportunities by manipulating their long or short ball.
- Four new player enhancements, plus an upgrade to the AI in Career Mode makes the player behaviour more intelligent and reactive.
- FIFA 22 gives you the freedom to go beyond the rules and shapes the game into your own unique version, with over 300 off-the-ball and assist challenges.

- FIFA 22 will have the most challenging disc-based True Player Motion ever built.
- Enjoy unprecedented player control in bullet-pitched, off-ball challenges.
- The improved gameplay engine results in more natural and exhilarating player animation and ball collision.
- Real-life crowd sounds and crowd chants, atmospheres, chants and player reactions are re-recorded.
- A precise in-game stadium announcer and expanded crowd animation.
- Repositioned time-wasting controls make creating unorthodox tactics easier.
- Player animations for 22 FIFA legends.
- Specific formations and player kit colors at the start of career mode.
