In SwiftUI, the Text struct and UIKit Text struct can render HTML/TEXT to plain, but how do you do the same in WebKit? It says to render in HTML, so I'd expect something like this: let string = "Hello" var html: String { return "H" + "" + string + " " + "" } But Xcode rejects the code, saying "Value of type 'String' has no member 'string'". How do you render HTML/TEXT to HTML/TEXT? A: You can use DOMParser instead of innerHTML let string = "Hello" var parser: DOMParser = { let parser = DOMParser() return parser.parseFromString(string, error: nil) }() var doc: Document = parser.parse(text) Control of Bacillus subtilis sporulation: a global view of recent findings.
