Macro Express reviews by The Software Explorer Review title: Offering value for money Review description: A must have for every PC userMacro Express is an excellent tool in automating repetitive tasks in a relatively short time. Macro Explorer is of a similar nature, but the feature list of Macro Express is more extensive and offers better functionality. Macro Express updates 2013-01-17 Review title: Excellent software for those with basic needs Review description: I use this software for a few years. The interface has improved a lot in this version. However, some of the features have not changed at all. For instance, the macros created on a previous version can still be executed. This is a drawback for those who need a more recent functionality. Discussion of the Background A liquid crystal display (LCD) panel is a type of flat panel display in which LCDs are arranged in many number. An LCD module is an apparatus using the LCD panel in which light emitted from a light source is transmitted through an LCD panel and an optical modulator, and which then displays an image using the transmitted light. An optical modulator can be used to modulate light by controlling the refractive index of an liquid crystal layer using an electric field. Recently, an optical modulator has been developed for controlling the light incident on a light incident surface so that the light incident on the light incident surface is incident on a light extraction surface in a direction parallel to the surface. The optical modulator may include a light guiding plate
