Maybe, but the benefit of the other 99% of the day would be lost. I'd love to be able to create my own levels and tweak stuff, but also be able to take the game online for others to try and have feedback. The one thing I don't like about it is that it's technically flawed. It's 3D but the way things are designed in it doesn't really make it feel like it's a 3D game. Everything is slow, so lag is an issue, movement is slow and sloppy, there's no cover system (so it's slow to turn around) and any gun you have is slow to aim and fire. It feels a little like a quick and dirty prototype of a game with a lot of things that simply need to be fixed. ca3bfb1094
