This lets you evade certain obstacles such as falling platforms or the thorns of poisonous plants. You must collect gold to upgrade your jelly jars. These upgrades will make PhaseWorm easier to play. For example, The fastest jelly jar will let you phase quickly. The game has also been designed to be somewhat open. You can use any tileset and colors that you like. For me it's a living breathing life book that can be changed through the ages. There are no endings, only new beginnings and it changes and evolves as new pieces come on the scene. It means when you read it, you have things in it that you know and something in the book that you don't. You feel it and feel it deeply. You are also filled with adventure, it takes you places you have never been before. At times it takes you into scary places and at times into wonderful joyous paradises. The Gameplay-wise, Raider is an action shooter that puts the player in the role of a silent protagonist that has to use cover, stealth and combat to deal with hordes of enemies that gradually become more difficult. In this game, the player has to destroy the enemy's computer-controlled "bots" and get inside the bunker. Here are the developers' descriptions of the game:

"Several months in the making, is a fast paced action shooter where the player has to destroy the enemy's computer-controlled "bots" and get inside the bunker. After that, the player has to protect the bunker from waves of enemies. His only weapon is a simple assault rifle that he uses to destroy drones that attack the player from above and from the side. After succeeding in that, players can use the items that drop by the enemies' corpses. These items can be used to upgrade the weapon and add more ammo and health, as well as to bypass some of the enemies' defenses and gain access to areas before the enemies' drones can reach the player. After the player has succeeded in dealing with all the enemies inside the bunker, he can use his cash to upgrade his equipment, buy an array of weapons and items, and re-enter the world of the game in order to win the game and collect items and cash for that new equipment.
