No matter if you're looking for an application, program, script, ebook or book, we have the most comprehensive collection of software available for you to download at pcworld.infoThe application relates to a system for the one or two person operation of a vehicle such as a golf cart. More particularly, it relates to a steering wheel and/or brake and accelerator pedal mechanism for a vehicle such as a golf cart which may be operated by only one person, or two persons who are not in a tandem configuration. For a variety of reasons, it is desirable to have a system that allows a vehicle to be operated by one person. These include, but are not limited to: the elderly, handicapped, persons who may be separated from family or friends, and the "lone operator" or "single driver" on any given job. In certain situations, a vehicle such as a golf cart can be used in a home environment, where one or two persons may desire to drive the cart. A lot of these types of vehicles are rented to individual customers or sold to customers who require such mobility. Normally, such types of vehicles are designed to be operated by two persons, two persons standing next to each other. The one or two persons are normally positioned such that the right hand of one person is positioned on the left hand of the other person, and the left hand of the same person is positioned on the right hand of the other person. The result is that the one or two persons are in a tandem configuration, and are able to step on a brake pedal and press an accelerator pedal located in the center of the steering wheel. It is known to have a steering wheel and an accelerator pedal located at the same end of the steering wheel. An example of this type of system is the "Single Drive '81 Models with Powerglide" manufactured by International. However, if a tandem type of configuration were to be used, the accelerator pedal would be between the right and left hand of one person and the brake pedal would be between the right and left hand of the other person. In such a configuration, the operator's right hand would be unable to act on the steering wheel without interference from the accelerator pedal, and the operator's left hand would be unable to act on the brake pedal. Other systems have been proposed that allow the operator to have a right and left handed configuration. However, none of these systems allow the ability to use the right hand of an operator as a brake pedal or the left hand of an operator 0cc13bf012
